

Invitation to Receive a Free Oncology Massage or Facial

Are you a cancer survivor and would you like to join us for a free facial skin care treatment or massage? Greet The Day is inviting volunteer clients to receive a facial or massage as part of a nationally accredited post-graduate education course for professionally licensed skin care and massage therapists.

Cancer and cancer treatments place a physical demand on the body and require that massage and skin care treatments be modified for safety. Immediate and possibly long-term considerations include positioning, pressure or site concerns related to medical devices, the side effects of drug treatments, surgery and radiation, compromised blood cell counts and lymphedema or risk thereof.

Oncology massage and skin care modifications are unique for each person and can change over time. All techniques are gentle in nature so as to be mindful of the effects of treatment and the disease, and in order to provide a safe and restorative experience.

Who Volunteer Client should be in or have a history of cancer treatment

Where: See website for details

When: See website for details

Time commitment is 90 minutes which includes a 60-minute oncology facial and time for client/therapist consultation. This Client Clinic program is provided in a classroom setting with your privacy and comfort as our main priority.

To participate as a Volunteer Client please register at www.greettheday.org/client-clinic/

About Greet The Day: Greet The Day programs have provided thousands of hours of integrative oncology care for people affected by cancer and are offered with the support of a multi-disciplinary team of physicians, nurses, social workers, and oncology massage therapists and estheticians. Oncology client programs are offered at no charge to the recipient. Tax-deductible donations and the income earned from mission-related professional education directly support delivery of Greet The Day oncology client services.